Among its activities are Undergraduate Research Seminars, quizzes, puzzle competitions, book review competitions, National Mathematics Day celebration, Pi Day Celebration, etc...

AIMS:

- Learn and refine problem solving strategies
- Participate in group tutoring opportunities
- Build a foundation for college mathematics
- Solidify concepts through teaching and learning

OBJECTIVES:

- Develop team cooperation
- Leadership
- Problem-solving skill

Objective of the activity: To develop leadership quality and scientific reasoning among students.

17th December, 2018: To develop in students the courage to face audience and present their views confidently, a debate was organized on the topic “Organic Farming vs. use of Synthetic chemicals in agriculture” for FY B.Sc (Botany) students by the Department of Botany. The topic was selected from a unit of the syllabus, to create awareness among students regarding the use of chemicals in large amounts in agriculture and also propagate the concept of organic farming which is the need of the hour.

Students were informed to gather data from articles in newspapers, research articles on the internet, books on agricultural practices, etc. Thus, participants put forth information in the form of a healthy debate in classroom. The audience enjoyed the way participants expressed their views and also took notes. The activity proved to be an innovative tool in enhancing classroom teaching-learning process.

Detailed Report of Quiz Competition:

“Learning gives Creativity, Creativity leads to thinking, Thinking provides knowledge, and Knowledge makes us great. Quiz competitions are always interesting and informative, which provide excitement among the students and also gives them subject knowledge.”

Department of Economics- Post Graduate & Research Centre successfully conducted an Intra-Class Quiz competition in the Hall No. 21 of the College on 28th January, 2019 at 09:10am for the students of M.Com Part II in which four different groups with six participants in each group gave tough battle to each other. Rules and regulations of the quiz were explained at the beginning. It was interesting three-round competition, which engaged the students for one hour. The students showcased their brilliance by rapidly answering the questions. Though some of the questions were very tricky, the teams tried to answer them with confidence. It was interesting to see that the teams participated actively, and there was a tie between three teams at the end of the Quiz. Team A won after answering the tie-breaker question. It was very informative and knowledge enriching competition for the participants. The students felt encouraged with such positive competitions and I as faculty hope to bring out the best in all students through such competitive events, while ensuring that the students learn through all possible ways- not just through books and classroom teaching.

The faculty members of Economics Department graced the event by their presence and motivated the students. The programme was coordinated by Mrs. Ana Mateen.

II. Brief Information about the Activity (Criterion no – V)

Topic/ Subject of the activity	Reading Others, Writing Yourself
Objective for conducting the activity	To recharge the linguistic and literary acumen of the students. Most of the students feel blank or empty when they are expected to respond to the text they have read or the lecture they have attended. This lacuna is due to less or no practice of producing an academic discourse. Writing and reasoning, the topmost interrelated skills for success in higher education, are restricted to, and/or reserved for, exam-period only. Therefore this workshop aimed at inspiring the students to think and write.
Methodology	The participants were provided a sheet of proverbial sentences and, were assigned to produce a clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization and style of their write-up will be appropriate to the context, purpose (authorial intention) and its readers (their expectations or satisfaction).
Outcome	The Departmental initiative to bring to the notice of the students motivational quotes and sayings and their imaginative interpretation was successful
