Detailed Report

16/02/2024: The homeless street children face challenges each day and lead a very harsh life. They are often subject to abuse, neglect, exploitation or lured into illegal activities. Several NGOs are coming forward to uplift these underprivileged children. One such NGO in Pune, is Dadanchi Shala, focusing on educating the street children who are entangled into the begging racket especially at signals.

Department of Botany, Poona College of Arts, Science & Commerce, lent a helping hand to this NGO. The staff and students collected funds and bought stationary that included notebooks, pencils, pens, erasers, compass boxes, colour paints, crayons, etc.

On the 16th of February, 2024, under the supervision of Dr. Aafreen A. Ahmed and Miss Nabila Shaikh, T.Y. B.Sc Botany students visited the Balasaheb Thakre Kaladalan, where the NGO had their Annual Gathering. We got a glimpse of the activities conducted by the NGO to engage the beggars on street, educate them and sensitize them on cleanliness, importance of education and a better life.

The founders were happy to receive the donation. They took us around the Art Gallery showcasing students' activities, their art work, thus encouraging them. This visit was a part of Extension activity for students of Poona College, to instil in them empathy towards the underprivileged. Seven students visited the place and interacted with volunteers of the NGO and offered to help in their cause in whatever way possible after graduation.

B. What is a gender audit?

The Gender Audit is a comprehensive initiative designed to evaluate the extent to which an institution maintains gender balance and adheres to government regulations, policies, and actions aimed at enhancing the status of women in society. It seeks to assess the impact of existing and proposed policies on promoting gender equality within the institution.

While there is no universally standardized methodology for conducting a gender audit, two widely recognized approaches are commonly employed: the Participatory Gender Audit and the Gender Integration Framework.

These methods examine gender dynamics across two key dimensions:

1. Internal Audit:

The internal dimension focuses on how effectively an organization fosters gender equality within its structural, managerial, and operational frameworks.

Key aspects include:

- Monitoring and evaluating progress in gender mainstreaming initiatives.
- Strengthening organizational capacity and fostering collective ownership of gender equality initiatives.
- Enhancing institutional learning and practices related to gender equality.

An internal gender audit provides valuable insights into how the organization's internal policies and practices contribute to a gender-inclusive work environment, ensuring sustained progress toward equity goals.

2. External Audit:

The external dimension assesses the organization's commitment to gender equality in its policies, programs, projects, and services.

It evaluates the inclusivity and benefits provided to all genders through:

- Reviewing the integration of gender perspectives into high-level policy objectives, ensuring these align with gender equality goals.
- Examining the extent to which gender-specific objectives are embedded or mainstreamed within general policy frameworks.
- Assessing the implementation phase to ensure initiatives address gender needs and help bridge gender gaps.
- Analyzing monitoring and evaluation practices to ensure the use of sex-disaggregated data and gender-sensitive indicators to track progress toward equality.

Objectives of a Gender Audit:

A gender audit seeks to ensure that policies and practices do not perpetuate gender inequalities. Instead, it aims to guarantee that:

- Women and men benefit equally from institutional policies and services.
- Gender-specific needs are identified and addressed effectively.
- Institutional efforts actively work toward narrowing gender gaps and fostering inclusivity.

Systematically examining and addressing gender dynamics across all levels of operations, a gender audit not only evaluates current practices but also provides actionable insights to refine strategies, ensuring sustained progress toward gender equality in every aspect of the institution's functioning.

C. Constitution of Gender Audit Committee:

Sr. No	Name	Designation	Institution
1	Dr. Iqbal Shaikh	Chairman	Principal Poona College of Arts, Commerce and Science, Camp, Pune

The following are the main objectives of the Gender Audit:

- a) To know about the gender balance in the college.
- b) To know about gender perception in the campus.
- c) To reflect and etch out a road map for gender action.

E. Gender Audit Methods:

The gender audit was conducted within the broad framework called the Gender Integration Framework (GIF), which proposes that transformation can only follow when four organizational dimensions are equipped for gender integration. These four elements are political will, technical capacity, accountability, and organizational culture.

The political will: Means the initiatives in which the leadership within the college at different levels use their branches of the tree and are also required in equal measure to successfully integrate gender, position of power to communicate and demonstrate their support, leadership, enthusiasm for and commitment to working toward gender equality in the college.

Technical Capacity: Level of ability, qualifications and skills individuals in an organization need to carry out the practical aspects of gender integration for enhanced program quality, and level of institutionalization of gender equitable organizational processes.

Accountability: Mechanisms by which a college determines the extent to which it is "walking the talk" in terms of integrating gender equality in its programs and organizational structures.

Organizational Culture: Norms, customs, beliefs and codes of behavior in an organization that support or undermine gender equality - how people relate; what are seen as acceptable ideas; how people are "expected to behave" and what behaviors are rewarded.

2. Gender Wise Distribution of Staff

Gender sensitivity refers to an attempt to encounter and accept people without presumptions. Gender sensitive approach aims at opening, reconstructing and broadening expectations and behavioral models related to gender. Gender sensitive structures respond equally to men and women's specific interests without any presumption based on outdated views.

The institution was established at a time in the early sixties when the issue of gender was not much of a concern especially in a remote region like ours considering the time when it was set up. Obviously when gender became a major parameter for institutional governance, the institutional leadership stepped forward. Although it cannot be said perfect but a general infrastructural survey does reflect the real picture.

An Audit of gender sensitive features in the Institution yielded the following notable points:

A physical verification was made about the nature of the gender sensitive features within the Campus. The following features were found present.

- Basic sanitation facility in the form of separate toilets for the students and staff is provided in the common area. Though, a separate toilet for male and female faculty is not available.
- There is a Ladies Common Room provided on the 1st Floor of the main building.
- There are CCTV monitoring devices installed at different locations within the campus especially within the Library and major gates.
- There is a Centre for Women's forum that conducts Gender Sensitisation programmes regularly for the students.

A. Gender Balance within the Institution:

Understanding Gender Balance and Equity:

Gender balance refers to the equitable representation of male and female individuals within an institution, encompassing both the student population across various programs and the staff structure. Historically, women have faced limited access to resources and opportunities due to entrenched social structures, which act as barriers to their empowerment. These barriers result in diminished capabilities and a cyclical effect that further restricts women's participation in development initiatives.

At Poona College of Arts, Commerce, and Science, gender equity is a cornerstone of institutional policies and practices. Gender equity does not necessarily mean offering identical programs and facilities for both genders but ensuring that everyone has access to opportunities tailored to their unique needs, interests, and experiences. This approach recognizes that some programs may be the same, some modified, and others entirely distinct to achieve meaningful inclusivity.

Institutional Practices Promoting Gender Equity:

The college demonstrates a strong commitment to fostering an environment that prioritizes both academic excellence and the holistic development of its students. Key measures include:

1. Targeted Facilities and Programs for Girls:

- Female students are provided with specialized facilities and focused support to promote their academic and personal development.
- Initiatives such as personality development sessions, health and hygiene workshops, and legal awareness programs are held regularly.

2. NCC Unit and Leadership Development:

- Separate NCC (National Cadet Corps) units for boys and girls focus on cultivating character traits such as leadership, discipline, teamwork, and a spirit of adventure.

- Outstanding achievements of female cadets are highlighted to inspire and motivate other students.

- Workshops and lectures on critical issues such as sexual abuse prevention, health and hygiene, and legal rights for women are conducted.
- Topics include awareness of sexual harassment at the workplace (prohibition, prevention, and redressal), with sessions led by eminent judges, lawyers, and social workers.

4. Committees and Institutional Support:

- The college has established an Anti-Ragging Committee and an Internal Complaints Committee to safeguard the welfare of all students.
- Specialized sessions are arranged to educate students, particularly girls, about their privileges, duties, and available legal protections.

5. Cultural and Sports Achievements:

- Female students actively participate and excel in cultural and sports activities, gaining recognition at youth festivals and competitions.
- These achievements bring accolades to both the college and the students, serving as a testament to the inclusive environment fostered on campus.

6. Community Engagement and Legal Awareness:

- The college organizes classes for parents on parenting strategies and conducts sessions on women's rights and legal provisions. These efforts extend the institution's commitment to gender equity beyond its immediate community.

Feedback and Observations:

An analysis of student feedback regarding the college's policies and programs indicates broad approval of its gender equity initiatives. Students recognize the institution's efforts to ensure an inclusive and supportive environment for all genders. The positive reception reflects the adequacy and effectiveness of the college’s approach to fostering equality in academic, cultural, and extracurricular domains.

4. Summary and Conclusion

A. Progress towards Gender Equity:

“Gender equality, equality between men and women...does not mean that women and men have to become the same, but that their rights, responsibilities and opportunities will not depend on whether they were born male or female. Gender equity means fairness of treatment for men and women according to their respective needs. This may include equal treatment or treatment that is different but which is considered equivalent in terms of rights, benefits, obligations, and opportunities.” –United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO)

Gender Equity Efforts and Observations at Poona College:

Poona College is steadfast in its commitment to advancing the welfare of female staff and students through continuous and proactive efforts. The institution acknowledges the differing needs and power dynamics between women and men and emphasizes the importance of addressing these disparities to rectify gender imbalances. This approach includes ensuring equal treatment where appropriate or providing equitable opportunities, rights, and benefits that account for these differences.

The college consistently organizes activities to promote gender sensitization and strives to instill a sense of dignity and self-respect among women. These efforts aim to empower them to lead their lives with confidence and integrity.

Notable trends have been observed in the enrollment patterns at the undergraduate (UG) and postgraduate (PG) levels, with a steady increase in the number of female students. This growth reflects an encouraging shift, as more women pursue higher education. Additionally, data indicate that the success rate of female students surpasses that of their male counterparts. Female students also actively participate in co-curricular and extracurricular activities, including cultural programs, demonstrating a holistic approach to their personal and professional development. While their involvement in sports is noteworthy, it remains comparatively lower than that of male students.

Among the regular teaching staff, the college observes a higher proportion of female faculty members than male, underscoring its inclusive approach to gender representation in academia. These findings reflect Poona College's ongoing commitment to fostering a balanced and supportive environment that enables women to thrive across various domains.
