DETAILED REPORT

Debate competition on the topic Conventional Method of Plant Breeding Vs. Genetically Modified Organisms.

14/02/2024: To inculcate critical thinking and develop public speaking ability in the students Department of Botany has organized a debate competition on the topic Conventional Method of Plant Breeding Vs. Genetically Modified Organisms. Judge for the competition was Mr. Javed Sagri an expert plant breeder with several years of experience in agriculture sector.

Two teams were formed; each one is speaking on either Conventional Method of Plant Breeding or Genetically Modified Organisms. The team supporting conventional plant breeding argued for the merits of traditional breeding methods, emphasizing its long history of success and safety. The team advocating for GMOs presented a case for the benefits of biotechnology in agriculture, arguing that GMOs offer innovative solutions to global challenges.

After careful consideration of the arguments presented by both teams, the judge expressed his view and reached a decision. He declared conventional method of plant breeding team as winner. He acknowledged the merits of both conventional plant breeding and GMOs, he shared his field experience as well as gave career advice to the students.

Program concluded with prize distribution among all the participants.

Report

On December 17, 2023, the National Insurance Academy organized a comprehensive quiz competition aimed at enhancing awareness about national insurance policies. The event witnessed active participation from various educational institutions, including Poona College.

Four students from Poona College enthusiastically took part in the quiz, showcasing their knowledge and understanding of national insurance concepts. Despite their commendable efforts, the team unfortunately did not advance past the first round. However, the experience proved to be valuable as it offered a unique learning opportunity for the participants.

The quiz covered a diverse range of topics related to national insurance, including policy types, coverage details, and the importance of insurance in financial planning. The questions were designed to test participants' understanding of the intricacies of insurance and its role in safeguarding individuals and businesses against various risks.

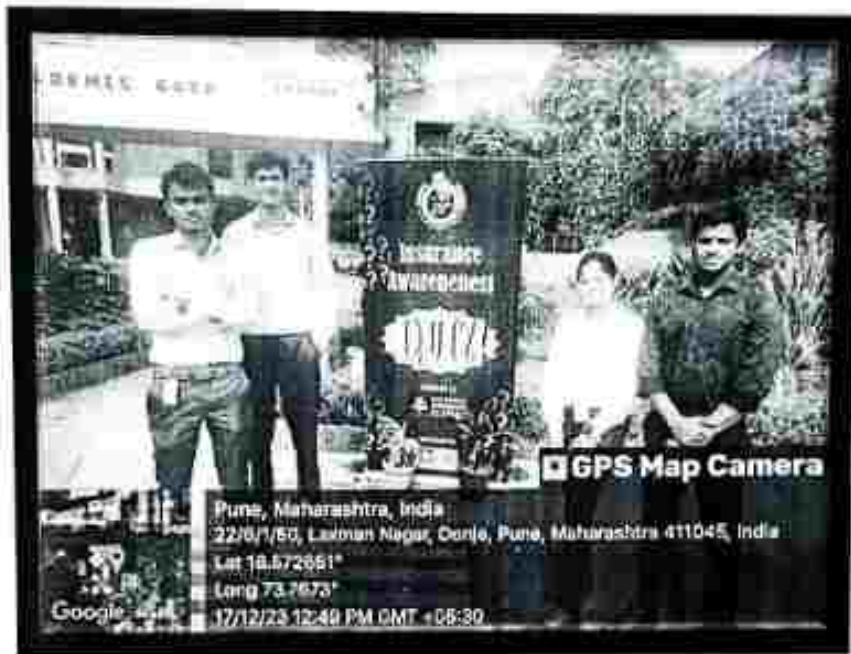

Although the Poona College team did not progress in the competition, they expressed gratitude for the chance to participate. The event served as a platform for the students to broaden their knowledge about insurance, gain insights into the industry, and understand the significance of being well-informed about insurance policies.

The National Insurance Academy's initiative to conduct such awareness-building events is commendable, as it contributes to creating a more informed and financially literate society. Despite not advancing to subsequent rounds, the participants from Poona College left the quiz with newfound knowledge and a positive learning experience.

In conclusion, the National Insurance Awareness Quiz conducted by the National Insurance Academy on December 17, 2023, was a successful endeavor in promoting insurance awareness. The participation of students from Poona College, although not making it past the initial round, marked a constructive step toward fostering financial literacy among the younger generation.
